

LAY STONE AMID STRAINS OF DIXIE

Patriotic Aids and Masonic Honors Mark Ceremonies at Memorial Institute.

MECCA OF WHOLE SOUTH

Colonel White Calls States to Assist in Making Institute Truly Southern.

Amid the strains of "Dixie" and the patriotic airs of the united country, the members of Richmond Lodge, No. 10, A. F. and A. M., lowered into its place yesterday afternoon the cornerstone of the Confederate Memorial Institute, planned by the Southern people to become the Pantheon of the Confederacy. On the improvised platform resting upon the completed first floor of the rising building, stood 200 representatives from the Confederate organizations, from municipal and State governments and from the city at large.

Long before the exercises opened with the singing of "America" by the assembled people at 4:45 o'clock, every seat on the limited platform was occupied. The overflow crowd was forced to make itself as comfortable as possible on adjacent lumber piles and mounds of building material. A blistering summer sun worked overtime during the whole ceremony, but the waiting crowd stuck it out bravely to the benediction.

Veterans Attend in Body.
As befitting the occasion, a large number of Confederate Veterans from the Soldiers' Home and Lee Camp witnessed the exercises. The detachment from Lee Camp formed at the Soldiers' Home at 4:30 o'clock, and, together with the old soldiers, marched to Kensington Street, where they were joined by the Masons and the Commandery of St. Andrew, No. 13, Knights Templar.

The band of the Richmond Light Infantry Blues headed the column in the march to the Memorial Institute and was followed by the brilliantly uniformed Templars. Next followed the white-robed Masons, and after them the company from Lee Camp. Last of all, straggling and in form of step, came the halting gray line from the Soldiers' Home.

Address by Colonel White.
Only half of the marching column could find seats on the platform; the rest remained below with the overflow crowd, during the two hours of ceremony which followed. Prayer was offered by Rev. James T. Fair, D. D., and was followed by the elaborate Masonic ritual provided for occasions of this kind. The Blues Band filled in the designated pauses with patriotic selections and was assisted by a special Scottish Rite choir. Colonel Robert White, of Wheeling, W. Va., making the principal address of the occasion, went exhaustively into the history of the movement for the construction of a Great Southern memorial hall, and traced the difficulties which were one by one surmounted before the work was brought to the successful stage in which it finds itself to-day. In the course of his historical sketch he spoke warmly of the important place in the movement of the late Charles Broadway Potts, who, he said, was first to conceive the idea of a great Battle Abbey of the Confederacy. To his financial aid, he said, was due in large part the success of the undertaking.

To Illustrate South's Grandeur.
Colonel White thought it particularly appropriate that the memorial temple of the South should be placed in Richmond, the war capital of the Confederacy. In it, he said, should be gathered statues, paintings, portraits, a library and other things commemorative of the South, its people, its statesmen and its soldiers, in order that generations to come may have preserved to them a record of the South as it was during and immediately following the war. He called upon the sovereign Southern States to cooperate in the work of filling the abbey with historical objects.

Leutenant-Governor J. Taylor Ellison, president of the Confederate Memorial Association, delivered the box containing interesting contemporary records, to the officiating Masons, Rev. I. R. Mason, D. D., closed the exercises with a benediction.

The Scottish Rite choir, which assisted the Blues' Band with the musical program, was under the direction of Joseph F. White, and included Mrs. W. F. Monell, Mrs. George K. Harper, Miss Patience V. Isaacs, Mrs. T. H. Ferrell, C. Ralph Ludwick, Frederick C. Jones and C. Joseph Finley.

TEXAS MEMORIAL WINDOW UNVEILED

Impressive Exercises Held in Historic Blandford Church.

Times-Dispatch Bureau,
5 Bollingbrook Street
(Telephone 1485)
Petersburg, Va., May 20.

The beautiful memorial window erected by Texas in Blandford Church, in memory of the Confederate dead of that State whose remains rest in Blandford Cemetery, was unveiled this afternoon with simple but impressive ceremonies. The church was filled with representatives of the various Confederate organizations of the city and many others. The ceremonies were opened with the singing of the Doxology, the recitation of the Apostles' Creed and prayer offered by the Rev. C. B. Bryan, D. D., after which the hymn, "How Firm a Foundation," was sung.

On behalf of the State of Texas, Professor Arthur Kyle Davis, of this city, in a brief address, presented the window to the Ladies' Memorial Association, into whose sacred care and keeping all the State memorial windows have been committed.

The veil was drawn from the Texas window by Mrs. Mollie R. McGinn Rosenberg, of Galveston, through whose interest and instrumentality in the main the Texas window was secured.

On behalf of the Ladies' Memorial Association, the window was received by the Rev. C. B. Bryan, D. D., in a very appropriate address. The ceremonies were concluded with the Doxology and benediction.

On the 3d of June, the anniversary of the birth of President Jefferson Davis, the two State windows of Florida and Georgia will be unveiled and dedicated. The ceremonies on this occasion will be more elaborate. These two windows will complete the splendid church memorial, in which every Southern State will be represented.

Several Deaths.
Mrs. Mary B. Hubbard, widow of John T. Hubbard, widely known and much esteemed in the community, died yesterday morning at her home on Shepard Street after an illness of four days. She was in the seventy-fifth year of her age, and is survived by eight sons and daughters, nearly all residing in Petersburg.

John T. Alley, of this city, died very suddenly at the Williamsburg Hospital yesterday while sitting at the dinner table. Mr. Alley had resided a great many years in Petersburg, and was also well known in Sussex county. The body will be brought to Petersburg for burial. He is survived by seven daughters, living in this city and near vicinity.

Caroline Blount, a worthy colored woman and a typical "mammy" of ante-war times, died yesterday at her home on Hickory Street at an advanced age. She was born a slave in Brunswick county. She enjoyed the respect of both white and colored people.

Revival Meetings Begin.
Revival meetings, which are destined to arouse wide interest, were begun in the First Baptist Church yesterday by the pastor, the Rev. L. M. Roper, D. D., who will be the preacher during their continuance of two weeks or more. An interesting feature of these meetings will be a large choir chorus, and special singing by Mr. and Mrs. Charles U. Butler and Miss Anderson as soloists. Meetings will be held twice a day. There were twenty conversions in the Sunday-school and four additions to the church yesterday.

The body of the late Dr. Samuel A. Hinton, who died suddenly at Weeks' Island Friday night, where he was visiting his son, reached Petersburg this afternoon. The funeral will take place to-morrow evening at 6 o'clock from Grace Episcopal Church. The medical faculty have adopted resolutions of respect to his memory, and will attend the funeral in a body. His sons, Ross, of Oklahoma, and Gill Hinton, of Louisiana, are here to attend the funeral.

Negro Trespassers Arrested.
Harwell Brothers, of this city, this morning received a carload of cabbage shipped to them on Saturday from Charleston, S. C. When the car was opened four negro men were found locked therein. They were arrested by the police and will be held on the charge of trespass. They gave their names as Ira Adwell, Frank White, Robert Curtis and James Curry. The explained their presence in the car by stating that they had loaded it with cabbage in Charleston on Saturday, and being weary had fallen asleep in it and were locked up. They had nothing to eat on their trip but raw cabbage, but the several empty liquor bottles found with them was evidence that they had plenty to drink.
